Set within a peaceful residential circus on Ashworth Close, NG3, this beautifully updated three-bedroom terraced home offers a rare combination of modern comfort and retained period charm, all framed by welcoming views over the central playing field and stretching out towards the Trent Valley.

From the moment you arrive, the property impresses with its double driveway and characterful frontage. A modern UPVC front door opens into a light and inviting entrance hall, setting the tone for the rest of the home. The main lounge sits to the front of the property, where large UPVC windows frame picturesque views across the green. A tiled period fireplace and solid wood flooring bring warmth and character to this cosy yet elegant space, which flows through into a thoughtfully designed kitchen diner at the rear.

The kitchen diner is a true highlight, bathed in natural light and offering uninterrupted views over the south-facing garden. It features well presented cabinetry, a walk-in pantry, and a cleverly designed in-built dining area, perfect for family meals or entertaining. Every detail has been considered to create a practical and sociable space that feels both modern and homely.

Step outside into a beautifully landscaped rear garden that takes full advantage of its sunny, south-facing position. A raised decking area provides the perfect setting for BBQs and outdoor gatherings, while the manicured lawn, vegetable patches, and garden shed make this an ideal space for both relaxation and productivity. Rear access via the bottom fence adds further convenience.

Upstairs, the property offers two generous double bedrooms, each with restored period features and fitted storage. Large UPVC windows allow for plenty of natural light and frame attractive views—whether across the green in front or towards the open Trent Valley landscape beyond. A third, single bedroom is currently used as a home office and includes built-in storage, making it a versatile space suited to modern living. The landing features a bespoke built-in bookshelf and skylight, adding character and light to the upper floor, while a pristine three-piece family bathroom completes the layout with stylish tiling and a fresh, immaculate finish.

All windows throughout the property are UPVC, ensuring energy efficiency and low maintenance. This home has been lovingly modernised throughout while remaining true to its original charm. With its unique setting, thoughtful design, and enviable views, this is a property that stands out—and early viewing is strongly recommended.

The area is also well-served by reputable schools, including Porchester Junior School and Carlton le Willows Academy, along with several nurseries and primary options nearby. Excellent public transport links and quick access to main roads make commuting simple, while nearby parks and open spaces provide plenty of opportunity for outdoor recreation.
